ADDITIONAL MANUSCRIPTS IN THE COLLECTIONS OF SIR JOHN WILLIAMS, BART., G.C.V.O.

Preface

THE Manuscripts catalogued and described in this volume include those omitted from the Catalogue of the Plâs Llanstephan MSS. issued by the Historical MSS. Commission, and some additions made by Sir John Williams subsequent to the issue of that Catalogue in 1903.

The preparation of this Catalogue was undertaken by Principal J. H. Davies, M.A., as a labour of love. The Arthurian MSS. have been described by Mr. A. J. Herbert, M.A., of the British Museum ; the Irish and Manx MSS. by the late Dr. E. H. Quiggin ; the Latin MSS. by Professor Edward Bensly, M.A. The Index was compiled by the Rev. J. Bodvan Anwyl.

The sources and other points of interest relating to the manuscripts included in the present Catalogue are dealt with in the Introduction written by Principal Davies. In order to provide a complete catalogue of the manuscripts comprised in the collections given to the National Library by Sir John Williams, Bart., G.C.V.O., another volume is necessary, which will include the Peniarth manuscripts not in the Welsh language, and therefore not included in the catalogue of the Peniarth MSS. issued by the Historical MSS. Commission. The number of Peniarth MSS. remaining to be catalogued is about two hundred. They include the Hengwrt Chaucer, the Historia of Bede, the Chronicle of Henry of Huntingdon, and others of considerable importance.

JOHN BALLINGER,

Librarian.

30TH NOV., 1921.

Introduction

A CATALOGUE of the older portion of the Welsh Manuscripts of Sir John Williams was made by Dr. J. Gwenogvryn Evans many years ago and was printed by the Historical Manuscripts Commission in 1903.* The Welsh MSS. in the Peniarth collection purchased by Sir John Williams, and given by him to the National Library were also catalogued by Dr. Evans for the Historical Manuscripts Commission.† Practically all the important manuscripts were included in his catalogues, so that the contents of the present volume cannot compare in literary and historical value with the earlier publications. Nevertheless the manuscripts here described will be found to cover a wide field of human interest and to add considerably to our knowledge of Welsh history and literature in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

Of the two hundred manuscripts at Plâs Llanstephan catalogued by Dr. Evans no less than 154 came direct from the Shirburn Castle collection, purchased by Sir John Williams in 1899; while most of the remainder were obtained from the collections formed by Lewis Morris of Anglesey in the 18th century, by the Rev. J. Jenkins of Kerry at the beginning of the 19th century, and by Mr. Egerton Phillimore. A large number of the manuscripts in the present Catalogue were bought at the Sir Thomas Phillipps sale in March, 1895, and of the 446 manuscripts which have been calendared in this volume no less than 137 were at one time in the Phillipps collection. These manuscripts vary much in value. Some are of considerable interest, while others are utterly valueless, being merely copies taken from printed books which are easily accessible, or memoranda and scraps of paper bound together by the zealous Sir Thomas Phillipps heedless of their unimportance.

It appears that Sir Thomas bought all the manuscripts of Edward Jones (1752–1824) known as Bardd y Brenin, collected the scattered papers which he found amongst them and bound them in volumes in the well-known brown board covers. Some of these bound volumes contain interesting data, and an endeavour has been made to catalogue everything that may be of interest to the student.

There are some important manuscripts amongst those bought at the Phillipps sale. MS. 10 is the holograph MS. of George Owen's Treatise on the Lordships Marcher of Wales ; MS. 67 is an interesting collection of notes by Lewis Morris (1701–1765) ; MS. 309 contains a large number of letters written to the Welsh Antiquary Edward Lhuyd ; MS. 235 is the note-book of Theophilus Jones, the historian of Brecknock ; MS. 147 is a copy of the journal of Sir Joseph Banks in his tour through Wales, made by his sister Miss S. S. Banks ; MSS. 233–4 seem to be a copy of the original MS. of T. F. Duke's Antiquities of Shropshire printed at Shrewsbury in 1844. A number of interesting letters are scattered through the bound volumes of Edward Jones's Miscellanea.

At least forty of the MSS. came from Mr. Egerton Phillimore's collection and amongst them the Irish and Manx MSS. calendared by the late Dr. Quiggin. Perhaps the most interesting is the tiny volume of poetry, MS. 253, written about the beginning of the 17th century by Thomas Evans.

Another collection which will be found of special interest to students of religious history is that obtained by Sir John Williams through Mr. John Griffiths of Swansea. It consists of the MS. papers and books of the late Dr. Thomas Rees (1815–1885), the historian of Welsh Nonconformity. There are over fifty MSS. in this collection, amongst them a holograph MS. of poetry by Vavasor Powel (MS. 366), The Register of Mynydd Bach Chapel, Llangyfelach (MS. 369), and that of Capel Isaac (MS. 371), as well as an interesting collection of letters written to the Managers of the Congregational Fund between 1769 and 1811 (MS. 383). Much of the material used by Dr. Rees for his History of Protestant Nonconformity in Wales will also be found among the MSS.

About a dozen of the MSS. formerly belonged to the Rev. John Williams, of Llanrwst. On his death a portion of his collection was purchased from his widow by the Rev. H. Holland Edwards, Canon of Westminster, and his nephew presented them to the Rev. D. Jones Davies, of North Benfleet, who gave them to Sir John Williams. Another portion of the MSS. of John Williams, of Llanrwst, containing letters and documents of the Wynns of Gwydir, went to Paul Panton. These were purchased recently and presented to the National Library by The Rt. Hon. J. Herbert Lewis, M.P., and are now being calendared.

Other collections are those of Thomas Edwards "Twm o'r Nant" (MSS. 346–354), Mr. George Dunn (MSS. 431–436), and the four French MSS. (443–446) bought at the Ashburnham sale in 1899.

Amongst other MSS. which have a special interest are Nos. 77 and 78—two books of hymns in the autograph of William Williams, Pantycelyn, the Welsh hymnologist, and No. 269 written by his son the Rev. John Williams of Pantycelyn. There are also holograph copies of poems and letters by Ceiriog, Talhaiarn and other celebrities of the 19th century (MSS. 307, 192, &c.) A Manx MS. of Carols (No. 409) was once the property of George Borrow.

In making the Catalogue the compiler has usually made a complete list of the contents of each MS. In a few cases, however, where the MSS. were of no importance this has not been done. The cataloguing of pedigree MSS. raises points of special difficulty, but the compiler has followed the excellent precedent set by Mr. Edward Owen in his Catalogue of the MSS. relating to Wales in the British Museum, and has indexed the names of houses and families.

The pagination of this volume is defective, as pp. 17–18, 35–36, 89–90, 115–117, 142–3 appear to have been omitted by the paginator. It is possible that he made a page for page copy of a manuscript in which these pages were wanting. The old pagination has been preserved in the references below. The book-plate of Thomas Edwards (Twm o'r Nant) has been affixed to the inside cover, and the MS. seems to have belonged to John Lloyd at a later date. The pedigrees are of considerable interest as many of them have been brought down to 1670 and later. The following list of names and places has been copied from the MS. Three places entered in the list of contents—Festiniog, Nanheudwy, and Rhiw bebyll—do not appear in the body of the MS. Rhiw Saeson, p. 174, omitted in the table of contents, is added below in [ ].

It is not mentioned in Angharad Llwyd's Catalogue of the Pengwern MSS. (Transactions Cymmrodorion, 1828, p. 50). Pp. 13–24, 31–2, 45–84, 317–328 are vellum, the rest of the 254-A. Cydfod yr Ysgrythyrau Sanctaidd. Welsh Concordance to the Bible.

Williams MS. 456. Paper. 150×98. 202 pp. Calf. Early 17th cent. Welsh.

A Concordance of the Welsh Bible in the writing of Robert Vaughan of Hengwrt. There is another copy by the same writer in Peniarth MS. 238. The present MS. was discovered by the Rev. Evan Evans at Bala in 1765 (Gweithiau Ieuan Brydydd Hir, p. 199) who intended to print it at Carmarthen (ibid p. 205). It bears his autograph signature and motto, and also the names of the Rev. St. George Armstrong William and Mr. R. Ivor Parry who were subsequent possessors. As a concordance it is vastly inferior to that of Abel Morgan, printed at Philadelphia in 1730, and to that of Peter Williams published at Carmarthen in 1773.

pp. 1–10. An account of Mohammed.

This curious story was published as a chap-book at Trefriw about 1780 with the title "Adroddiad Nodedig o'r Byd Anweledig &c." and it was probably copied into this MS. from an earlier edition of this chap book.

312-D. Brut, Poetry.

Williams MS. 514. Paper. 78 pp. 317×213. Unbound. Early 18th cent. Welsh.

An imperfect copy of a modernized version of the Historia of Geoffrey of Monmouth. It appears to correspond to the version in Brit. Mus. Addit. MS. 14872, pp. 33–257. The Brit. Mus. MS. is supposed to have been written by Thomas Prys of Plas Iolyn, and Addit. MS. 11 in the National Library is stated to have been copied in 1694 from a book written by Thomas Prys, but the two versions are quite distinct.

The present MS. and Add. MS. 11 were however at one time in the possession of the same person, and pp. 263–4 of the latter is really part of MS. 312 and has now been placed with it. Addit. MS. 14872 is imperfect, and begins on p. 2, l. 30 of MS. 312, both ending with the year 8 Charles II.

All the poetry is in the writing of Richard David of Llanymawddwy, who owned this MS. and Addit. MS. 11–D during the first quarter of the 18th cent. The two MSS. seem to have come later into the possession of the Rev. Peter Williams, of Carmarthen (pp. 21, 30). The following names have been scribbled on various pages: David David p. 26, Evan Richard p. 28, Richard Williams, 1711, p. 30, Thomas Hughes, 1767, about the beginning of the 18th cent. It was once in the possession of John Rhydderch, who has written three englynion at the end of the book, p. 172, as follows :—

John Rhydderch died in November 1735. It is clear that he made use of this MS. in compiling the English-Welsh Dictionary which he printed at Shrewsbury in 1725. In the preface to that book he refers to three MS. Dictionaries in his possession, one of which was compiled by the Rev. Erasmus Lewis, vicar of Lampeter. It is possible that this MS. is the one written by Erasmus Lewis.

The MS. has a label on the outer cover on which is written ' No. 1. A Dictionary English and Welsh.' It is written in the same hand as the labels on the Plas Power MSS. in the National Library. Another MS. English-Welsh Dictionary, which once belonged to John Rhydderch is now amongst the Plas Power MSS.

He has harboured for some time a Republican disposition, which I frequently as a friend desired him to drop every particle into total oblivion, but my advice made no effect. The following explanation is given of the above proverb:
' Ar ddiwrnod pan ydoedd person a chlochydd yn myned ar y neges o roddi Cymmun i ryw un claf, digwyddodd fel yr oeddynt yn teithio, i darw rhuthrog ruo'n ofnadwy arnynt. Yna'r clochydd a ddywedodd wrth ei feistr, (sef y person) " Fy meistr, 'mae arnaf led arswyd yr anifail hwn," Ei feistr a attebodd, " Nac ofna, oblegyd y mae'r Efengyl gyd a mi." Y tarw oedd yn parhau i ruo a neshau attynt. Yna y cyfododd y clochydd garreg ac a darawodd yr anifail fel y llonyddodd, ac a ddywedodd, " Fy meistr, Da yw'r maen gyda'r Efengyl." Mae'n debyg mai chwedl y Monachod ydyw.

346-B. Welsh Poetry by John Jones, Thomas Edwards, and Others.

Williams MS. 548. Paper. 202×159. 478 pp. Half Sheep skin. Late 18th and Early 19th cent. Welsh.

This book consists of four different MS. books bound together. Pp. 1–48 were written partly by Thomas Edwards 'Twm o'r Nant' (pp. 1–3). Pp. 49–204 consist of the poems of John Jones, Schoolmaster at Llanddeiniolen in Carnarvonshire and are in his writing. Pp. 205–370 were probably written by David Jones of Caeserwyd, see pp. 325 and 342. He has also written an englyn on p. 363.

Y Cymru mwynion cymerwch—y llyfr hwn
Holl frodyr darllenwch,
Difai yw difyrwch,
O'm llaw ar ol myn'd i'r llwch. D. Jones, Prion, 1794.

Pp. 371–478 were also probably written by or for David Jones at a later date. On p. 469 he complains of the paper,

"Dyma bapur sal iawn y ges i o gwmpas y rhaneu y Beible mawr Caerfyrddin a mine a sgrifenodd arno 1789."

Eventually the book came into the possesssion of the descendants of Thomas Edwards (Twm o'r Nant), from one of whom it (and the succeeding MSS.) were purchased by Sir John Williams, Bart., in 1904. This MS. contains a great many unpublished works of Twm o'r Nant.

Most of this book is in the writing of Thomas Edwards (Twm o'r Nant). It was clearly a scrap book used by him for jotting down the first drafts of some of his songs. Others have however used the book and this probably gave occasion to the following englyn by Twm which occurs on p. 107.

The MS. was formerly in the possession of Mr. Egerton Phillimore, who has inserted the following note: "This MS. was given to Mr. Howel W. Lloyd about 1843 by the old parish clerk of Llanelltyd, nr. Dolgelley. It is a collection of 1193 Welsh Englyns (or Englynion) in the hand of John Davies, curate of Pentrevoelas, Denbighshire (called by its old name, Pentre Vidoc on the Title page) 1747–8. There is a MS. in his hand at the British Museum, and another in my own possession. He died, I think in about 1800, aged 90. Egerton G. B. Phillimore, 18 Oct., 1893."

John Davies read the lessons in Pentrevoelas, earning his living by clog-making (Gwaith T. Edwards, 1849, p. ix.)

441-C. Historical Prophecies in Latin and English.

Williams MS. 219. Paper. 265×390. 93 pp. 16th cent. On the fly-leaf at the beginning is the signature " James Raine, Durham " (librarian to the Dean and Chapter, secretary of the Surtees Society &c., d. 1858).

A miscellaneous collection of historical prophecies in verse and prose attributed to Merlin, Thomas of Erceldoune and others. For similar, though not identical compilations, see H. L. D. Ward, Catalogue of Romances, vol. I, 1883, pp. 292–338.

The text begins on p. 14 and ends on p. 72. Many blanks.

442-D. Chronicle of the Brute.

Williams MS. 241. Vellum. 300×200. 342 pp. Brown leather binding, with gilt-tooled scroll border. CHRONICLE OF THE BRUTE, in English prose Mid. 15th cent. Illuminated initial and border on p. 1. Chapter-initials in blue, with red flourishes. Headings in red. Title : " Here begynneth a a booke which is called Brute. the Cronycles of Englonde."

There is an introductory paragraph, as in Harley MSS. 1337, 2182, 6251, and Stowe MS. 71, beginning " This booke treteth and telleth of þe kynges and principal lordes þat euer were in þis londe," and ending " cxxxijti kynges, whos lyves and actes been compiled shortly in þis boke, þe whiche conteyneth ccxxxxiiij chapiters, withoute þe prothogoll or prolog."

Then follows a long rubric (as in Harl. 2182), mainly defaced, beginning " The prolog of þis booke declareth hou þis [londe] was callyd Albyon."

The text begins (p. 2): " Somtyme in þe noble londe of Surry." Like the majority of the MSS. of the English Brute (see F. W. D. Brie, Geschichte und Quellen der mittelenglischen Prosachronik The Brute of England, 1905, p. 62), this MS. ends with the capture of Rouen by Henry V. in 1419: " And þanne þe kyng entred þe toune, and rested hym in the Castell til þe toune was sette in reule and in gouernance."

443-D. Le Vieux Tristan.

Williams MS. 529. Formerly Ashburnham Appendix 167 (see Catalogue of Ashburnham Appendix [1861]; 217 in MS. itself), bought at the sale of Louis Phillippe's books (book-stamp on p. 1, sale-cat., 1852, pt. I, lot 1303). Sotheby's sale-catalogue of Ashburnham Appendix, 1 May, 1899, lot 106. Paper. 279 pp. 307×207. Early 16th cent.

Part of the French prose romance of Tristan, transcribed by [Pierre] Sala, who has prefixed a dedication to the French King in 22 lines, beginning " Pour obeyr, sire, au commandement," and naming himself " Vostre Sala, très-humble en vostre chambre." The dedication is printed in the Louis Philippe sale-cat.; also (less accurately) in La Croix du Maine and Du Verdier, Bibliothèques Françoises, vol. V (Paris, 1773), p. 342, reprinted by G. Guigue in his edition of Pierre Sala's Le Livre d'Amitié (Lyon, 1884), p. 50. Signature " Guillems de Sala " on pp. 1 and 3 [probably Antoine or Jean Guillems de Sala, grandsons of Pierre's half-brother Jean, see Guigue, p. 9].

Begins: " Que en ce temps Tristan et la belle reyne Yssent estoient dedans Tintagel." Ends: " Tristan demoura en Cornaille. Et atant deulx je me tairay et feray la fin de mes comptes, Car au liure ou les ay prins je nen rien trouue pas plus auant."

Below, in a different hand, " Ce liure est a moy Jehan Sala " [probably Pierre's half-brother mentioned above].

Illustrated with coloured drawings.

444-D. Yvain.

Williams MS. 530. Formerly Ashburnham Appendix 164 (Sotheby's sale-catalogue, 1 May, 1899, lot 103), bought at the sale of Louis Philippe's books (book-stamp "Bibliothèque du roi, Palais royal," on p. 1; sale-cat., 1852, pt. I, lot 1306). Previously belonged to N. J. Foucault (d. 1721), having his book-plate of arms ("Nicolai Joseph Foucault, Comitis Consistoriani"), and also his arms stamped in gilt on the calf covers, surmounted by those of Louis Alexandre de Bourbon, Comte de Toulouse, Amiral de France (d. 1737), or his son Louis Jean Marie de Bourbon, Duc de Penthièvre, Amiral de France (d. 1793) [see J. Guigard, Nouvel Armorial du Bibliophile, vol. I, 1890, pp. 53, 54].

Inserted at the beginning is a letter to Lord Ashburnham from Thomas Boone the bookseller, 29 New Bond Street, April 10 [1852], concerning his purchase, on Ld. A.'s behalf, of the following lots [at the Louis Philippe sale]: 1108 [Ashburnham Appendix 166] for 1605 fr., 1115 (Ashb. App. 152) for 2150 fr., 1303 (Ashb. App. 167, now Williams MS. 529) for 1250 fr. and 1306 (the present MS.) for 1960 fr.

A note (signed) by Foucault on the fly-leaf states that the MS. was sent him on 12 Nov., 1703, by "M. de Charancé, directeur des fermes de Languedoc à Montpellier."

Vellum. 65 fol. 304×210. 14th cent. Apparently written in Italy. With coloured drawings illustrating the text, and a few illuminated initials.

Romance of YWAIN, in French prose. Rubric heading: "Ceste liure est le liure de monseignor Y. et parole de maint buen cheualiers."

Begins: "En ceste partie dit li contes que misser Yuain le fis au roi Vrien cheuauchait par une grant forest qui estoit apellee la perilleuse foreste." The episode of the lion and dragon fighting (cf. Chrestien de Troyes, Le Chevalier au Lion, ll. 3341 sqq.) occurs on p. 1. There is a lacuna after p. 2.

Ends imperfectly: "Nabon dit, Coment, seigneur de Norgalles, estoit adonc la partie de Norgalles uencus par un cheualier de Logres qi encores estoit ieune home . . . et dissoit si grant bonte des cheualerie qui canc."

445-D. Le Roman de Gallehault.

Williams MS. 531. Paper. 280×203. 342 pp. Late 15th cent. Leather binding. French.

Formerly Ashburnham Appendix 223 (Sotheby's sale-catalogue, 1 May, 1899, lot 153). Lot 1459 in the Catalogue des livres . . . de feu M. P. N. Menin des Pinssarts (Paris, Delion, 1843)*: see note in French, dated 5 Dec. 1843, on fly-leaf, stating that the MS. was bought for the writer by Labarq on 2 Dec. 1843, "en vente publique," and that the torn leaves were "mutilés par des barbares de libraires à l'exposition qui a precédé la vente."

Part of the romance of Lancelot du Lac, agreeing closely with the 1513 Paris edition, vol. i, fol. cxlv, v°—vol. ii, fol. xxi, v°, and corresponding as to substance with H. O. Sommer's edition of Le Livre de Lancelot del Lac, pt. ii (Washington, Carnegie Institution, 1911), pp. 5—222, but differing widely in text from the latter.

Imperfect, wanting 3 leaves at the beginning, and having a few leaves near the end (pp. 305–310, 341–2) mutilated.

When complete, it must have begun, like Harley MS. 6341 (see H. L. D. Ward, Catalogue of Romances, vol. i, 1883, p. 355), with the departure of Lancelot and "Gallehoz" [Gallehault] from King Arthur's court (Paris ed., i, fol. cxliiii; Sommer's ed., ii, p. 1). It now begins: "songes quil songea par trois nuitz signifient" (=Paris ed., i, fol. cxlv, v°, col. i, l. 2; cf. Sommer's ed., ii, p. 5, l. 31).

The title given above is taken from the colophon, but the death of Gallehault occurs on p. 254: "Ainsy fut mort Gallehoz le filz a la geande le sire des longues isles" (=Paris ed., end of vol. i; cf. Sommer's ed., ii, p. 155). In the MS. the paragraph has an additional concluding sentence: "Si se taist atant le compte de luy et du roy Artus et de sa compaignie et retourne a parler de Lancelot." Then follow further adventures of Lancelot (his ride in the "charrete," etc., down to his imprisonment in the castle of Meleagan), beginning "Ainsy est, ce dit le compte, Lancelot perdu que nul nen scet vrayes nouuelles," and ending "Ainsy demoure Meleagan en la court du roy Artus. Mais cy endroit nen parle plus le compte de luy ne du roy Artus ne de leur compaignie.

*Information kindly given by M. Henri Omont, Conservateur des Manuscrits in the Bibliothèque Nationale.

Aincois retourne a la seur de Meleagant" (agreeing almost verbatim with the Paris ed., ii, fol. 1–xxi, v°, and in substance with Sommer's ed., ii, pp. 155–222).

Colophon: "Cy fine Gallehoz."

The contents of the MS., including the inappropriate colophon, are practically identical with those of the first part (ff. 1–142*b*) of Harley MS. 6341 (like this, a late 15th cent. paper MS.), for description of which see Ward, op. cit., p. 355.

446-E. Roman de Tristan.

Williams MS. 532. Formerly Ashburnham Appendix 221 (Sotheby's sale-catalogue, 1 May, 1899, lot 151).

Vellum. 128 fol. 374×247. 14th cent. Apparently written in Italy. Illustrated by crudely executed coloured drawings in the lower margins.

The French prose romance of TRISTAN. Imperfect at end. Rubric heading: "Ceste liure est apelles le liure de monseignor Tristain le filz le roy Melyadus de Leono."

Begins: "En ceste partie dit li contes qe tant demora li rois Apollo a la cort li rois Cloudex com il li plot." This agrees with the opening of Harley MS. 4389 (described by H. L. D. Ward, Catalogue of Romances, vol. i, p. 356, and denoted C by E. Lφseth, Le Tristan et le Palamède des MSS. fr. du Brit. Mus., Christiania, 1905). In the later and fuller MS. Add. 23929 (Ward, p. 357; Lφseth, MS. A), which has the prologue of Luces de Gast and the usual preliminary chapters, this passage occurs on f. 34*b*, col. 2; the corresponding passage in the printed Tristan (Paris, Michel Le Noir, 1520) is in vol. i, fol. xix.

Wants a leaf after f. 6 (cf. Harl. 4389, ff. 7*b*–9) and a whole quire (6 or 8 leaves) after f. 7 (cf. ib. ff. 9*b*–18*b*). The text agrees very closely with that of Harl. 4389 down to the point at which the latter ends imperfectly (=f. 51, col. 2, l. 26 of the present MS.); it is much longer than that of Add. 23929, and that of the printed ed. of 1520. The last page is almost illegible. On the last page but one (f. 128) is a paragraph beginning "Quant il a dite ceste parole il comence son plor et puis dit a Sagremor, Traiez pres de moy cele espee que ie le puisse ades ueoir. Et il la trait, et T. la prent et la comence a baisier."
